“ Today as I run around getting things ready for your rosary it only brings me back to the day when I was the same running around to prepare for your funeral services and I had the same thought as I did at that time , how I wanted everything to be prefect for you. I realized that you where like that as well many times in your life how you wanted things to be just right ! like your hair or your nails or how to made sure the kids looked nice and sharp and how you wanted your things to be just so in place. I now see alot of that in your daughters ways she is always so protective with her things especially now if they have to do with you. You should see how grown up she has become since you have been gone and so strong it amazes me !she actually helps me to carry on and be strong and you would always think I was a strong person ,but I am not I am just a mom thinks she was trying to do the best of raising the two most important people in the world to her you and your brother.

I can not believe it will be a year since you have be gone and at lot has changed already since you have been gone ,but i guess to me it will always seem like you just went away.i know that your around sometimes because I can feel your presence and from the little things that happen ! "you know" like making the angel light up when the battery has been dead for month!

I love you and I was always so grateful for you and I was proud of you and I am so blessed you gave me two beautiful grandbabies so I can see you in them each day. I wait for the day to be with you again my darling angel babygirl.

“ its been a week since you been gone my beautiful baby and my heartaches for you to be here with us and your babies, but I have this feeling you are happy and at peace and you are watching your babies from above. Went to see about your headstone today and of course I cried .Went to your gravesite and it was so bare so we put the flowers around your grave. momma will always remember you my baby..

“ I had the pleasure of knowing Sylvia when she worked in the ER as a tech. She was a beautiful girl inside and out. Always smiling and talking to everyone. Sylvia even came to my baby shower. You will be missed sweet girl. Prayers for your friends and family, especially those babies. You are an angel now, watch over them. <3

“ What a sweet, sweet angel our Lord has received into his Kingdom. Taken far too soon from friends and loved ones. May your gentle heart and beautiful smile rest in eternal peace in the arms of Jesus Christ our Lord and Savior. You will be missed by all baby girl. May God bring peace and comfort to this beautiful family that they have the knowledge that we will all meet again in the Kingdom of Heaven.

“ Oh Sylvia...What a precious girl and kind spirit you were. There was just no one who didn't like you. You had friends all over and you were a stranger to no one. You were so beautiful and so sweet and accepting of everyone. I pray for peace and I pray for God to help ease the heartache of all the loved ones, friends and those gorgeous babies that you've left behind with so many questions. So until I see you again sweet angel, goodbye my middle school friend.

“ No amount of words could heal the pain that is being felt throughout her family and friends. Sylvia will always be remembered for the beautiful person she was, the way her smile lit up a room, her laugh that was unforgettable. May God give you all the strength to be strong through these hard times. My prayers are with you all <3
